Leading and Managing Projects

Ensure all your projects are as successful as possible with the Leading and Managing Projects, a course designed for passionate leaders wanting to drive change in a company. You'll develop the technical and soft skills to motivate your team to achieve their goals.

Feed your motivation.
Discover your potential.
Embark on the next stage of your career.

What will I experience?

Taught by IBAT's expert tutors, you'll experience writing and presenting reports, pitching a project and using different research methodologies to ensure your project runs successfully. You'll also consider change management, research ethics and project management tools.

What will I learn?

Throughout this module you will develop your understanding of leading a project from conception through to execution. You'll also evaluate both internal and external influences that might impact the success of your project. Additionally, you'll learn vital project management techniques and think about data collection and handling.
